

Dear all,

We're excited to share that Studiosity, an academic writing support service, is available for students enrolled in modules in the October 2025 study session.

We encourage you to make use of this additional support as you work through your assignments in this study session.

Simply upload your draft assignment and receive detailed, personalised feedback on academic skills such as structure, grammar and referencing within hours. Studiosity can double check your work if you are unsure as well as real time 1:1 personal academic support.

3 recommended steps for completing your assignments

How do I access Studiosity?

You can access Studiosity through the Coursera module page . Log into the Coursera and access the relevant module. Click on the link titled “Studiosity”. For BSc Computer Science, this can be found in Week 10 of the module.

When can I use Studiosity?

Studiosity will be available for the remainder of the study session; however, we strongly advise you to use Studiosity as an academic writing feedback tool prior to your submission deadlines.

Your usage allocation is five interactions in this study session. You will be able to see how many interactions are remaining when you access Studiosity so you can plan when you would like to request feedback.
